

BTI Appoints New President

Pneumatic Tank Industry leader looks to strengthen resources

Park Hills, Missouri – BTI announced today that Andrew Boyer has joined the company as President to further develop their growing reputation as a cutting-edge industry leader in the pneumatic tank trailer parts arena. Andrew comes with a wealth of experience, having spent the last fourteen years at Procter and Gamble Corporation, Andrew was instrumental in building an end-to-end initiative organization and delivery system that utilizes modern manufacturing techniques to improve quality and innovation.

Andrew joins BTI as President to continue BTI's recent success providing innovative products to many of the top companies in the industry. Andrew comments "I am excited to start a new challenge within BTI and look forward to working with the team to further develop their already extensive line of products and services. I am fortunate to be joining such a respected company that prides itself on top quality, innovation and customer service."

Dave Sisk, past president, will continue with the company as Chairman and CEO. In addition to these responsibilities, Dave will also be concentrating his efforts on new product development, a true passion of his.

Dave Sisk, Chairman and CEO said "Andrew's wealth of experience, character and knowledge has already made him a key addition to the BTI family. We view his appointment as a sign of our commitment to being the leading company in our industry. Our new innovations and the increasing demand from our customers led us to look for an addition to our team who will fit in with our passion for innovation and exceptional service, and it is very fortunate that we were able to find someone of Andrew's caliber to fulfill this role. I'm confident that Andrew will play a key role in providing and implementing high quality solutions for our customers and lead BTI to the next level."
